2020 / 2021 ANNUAL REPORT

Dearest Communities,

I found myself full of energy and with a firm grasp on a dream that I knew could be a reality. A system to organize volunteers to provide help to others. An organization with a mission of love and empathy for all people, and especially for community. One that could focus locally and spread as far as desired. Sharing generosity and compassion with constant acts of kindness daily. In this annual report you will see data. Graphs and numbers representing the hard work of resources and people healing a community. I urge you to look beyond the data. To see the power of morality, and ethical values. To see how the exposure of the character of people working together to help others can sustain all things good. Concepts like “You are the glue to goodness”, “Do for others what best friends do for each other”, “Give as little or as much as you can”, “Use your mind but follow your heart” have encouraged and sustained us. They unveil the resources and multiply them to fit the need. Certainly all of this is hard work, but lifting together we have made it possible and easier. The answers will always be found when we focus on others. When we say, “Red Hook Responds, How can a volunteer help you today?”. It has been my great pleasure to be of service to you as a founder and volunteer executive director of Red Hook Responds. I look forward to continuing our mission with you and thank you for all the support you have given me.

Sincerely, Yours in Community,

Dan Budd

quote from an anonymous Red Hook responder:

“Having this garden has truly been lifechanging for me. I know it may sound strange but it has added a new element to my life that I’ve never had before. This goes way beyond having an additional food supply (which, in itself, is awesome!). But it does so much more for me. It gets me outside (barefoot!) bright and early so I’m connecting with the earth and getting some much-needed grounding and morning sunlight. This sort of thing is not in my city girl nature. And to know that I’m actually able to grow something gives me such great satisfaction.”
